

Strategies for Effective and Low Cost Legal Research

Tuesday, December 2, 2014

4:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Rutgers School of Law – Camden
217 North 5th Street | Camden, NJ 08102

This program focuses on research tools and strategies related to New Jersey practice, free and low-cost legal resources, and New Jersey specific secondary sources. Topics include how to locate and navigate New Jersey Rules of Court, practice guides, and secondary sources to find legal information in areas such as landlord tenant, estate planning and administration, and civil and criminal trial preparation. The program will also discuss free and low-cost legal resources and tips for using Fastcase, the legal research service that has partnered with the New Jersey State Bar Association.

Topics include:

- Cost-effective research in practice
- New Jersey practice materials: Rules of Court, Form sets
- Streamline research using secondary sources: Gann Treatises, New Jersey Institute of Continuing Legal Education publications, New Jersey Practice, Guralnick's New Jersey Family Law Annotated
- Free and low cost resources: Rutgers University resources, Google, Fastcase

Faculty:

Charlotte D. Schneider is a Reference Librarian at the Rutgers School of Law - Camden. She holds a JD and a MBA from the University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth. After earning a MSLIS from Syracuse University, Ms. Schneider worked on various projects with the Legal Information Institute (LII) at Cornell Law School, where she remains a librarian consultant and publishing editor of the Supreme Court Bulletin.

Nancy B. Talley is a Reference Librarian at the Rutgers School of Law - Camden. She holds a JD from the Penn State Dickinson School of Law, where she was a member of the Penn State Law Review. Ms. Talley practiced law in Philadelphia for seven years as a commercial litigator before earning her MS in Library and Information Science from Drexel University.

Genevieve B. Tung is a Reference Librarian and head of circulation at the Rutgers School of Law-Camden. She holds a JD from the Fordham University School of Law, where she was also an editor of the Fordham Urban Law Journal. Ms. Tung practiced in the intellectual property group at Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP until 2010 before earning her MS in Library and Information Science from Drexel University.

Who should attend: This program is valuable to new attorneys who seek to learn research strategies.

CLE Credit Hours: 2.4 NJ | 2.0 NY | 2.0 PA

Registration Fee: $50.00

Register now www.rutgerscle.com